A screenshot of a GitHub repository card for 'Hacktoberfest2021'. The card features a dark background with a light gray header. In the top left corner, there's a small number '11' indicating the repository's popularity. To the right of the number is a circular profile picture of a person with short brown hair, wearing a dark t-shirt. Next to the profile picture, the repository name 'Vinit Shahdeo' is written in blue, bold font, followed by the handle 'vinitshahdeo' in a smaller, regular font. On the far right of the header, there are two small icons: a flame symbol next to the text 'POPULAR REPO' and a document symbol next to the text 'Hacktoberfest2021'. The main body of the card contains descriptive text in white: 'A community-led mentorship initiative to help beginners kickstarting their open-source journey by completing Hacktoberfest'21 challenge | Curated list of beginner-friendly issues for Hacktoberfest 2021 | Raise PR to add your issues'.
